Even Saint Cosme's "lowly" 2016 Cotes du Rhone looked good on my recent visit. It's mostly Syrah, blended from vineyards in Vinsobres and the Gard, offering lovely floral and peppery aromas, dark fruits, medium to full body and a softly dusty finish. It should drink well for 6 years.

"CDR made of syrah and with a taste profile from the southern, warmer part of the valley. Dark and earthy plum fruit with origin character of pepper, bay leaf and lavender. Tasty with or without food, recommended pairing is a slowly cooked tender stew."
