90 points Probably my favorite vintage of this cuvee to date, the 2013 Cotes du Rhone Blanc has loads of tropical fruits, pineapple and floral notes in its medium-bodied, thrillingly pure, crisp and lengthy personality. While it doesn't skimp on texture, it has beautifully integrated acidity and will be versatile on the dinner table. I'd drink it over the coming year or two, but wouldn't be surprised to see it drink well from longer.
