

Châteauneuf-du-pape 2016

Jeb Dunnuck

SAINT COSME Châteauneuf-du-Pape 2016 – 92-94 points

“Scheduled to be bottled in October, the 2016 Châteauneuf-du-Pape checks in as a mix of 50% Grenache, 30% Mourvèdre, and 10% each of Syrah and Cinsault. Rounded, beautifully textured, and full-bodied, with terrific complexity in its incense, dried flower, cedar wood, and assorted red and black fruits, it should benefit from short-term cellaring and offer over a decade of prime drinking.”

James Suckling

SAINT COSME Châteauneuf-du-Pape 2016 – 93-94 points

“Bold and succulent. Ripe, black-fruit aromas with a swathe of spicy-oak and earthy nuances, too. There’s a wealth of plush, brambly, dark-plum and berry flavors in a web of fresh, bright tannins. Barrel sample.”